ALLENTOWN HUMAN RELATIONS COMMISSION DISCRIMINATION COMPLAINT BOOKLET

The Allentown Human Relations Commission has produced a new booklet that provides information to those in the City who have experienced employment, housing, or public accommodation discrimination and who seek to file a discrimination complaint with the City's Commission. The Commission can help individuals by investigating complaints and adjudicating cases if discrimination is founded. PDN Executive Director Liz Bradbury, while serving as an AHRC Commissioner, wrote the text for the booklet and took the photos in it. To get booklets, contact the AHRC officer at: 610-437-7743.

If you have experienced discrimination, you can file a complaint in Allentown. Here's how...
